WORLD CLASS....

The squared shoulders and neck-length brown hair are familiar, even suited in a tuxedo, moving to open the doors of the new limousine and assisting a distinguished man and two decorous ladies from within.

I am next in a Herald stationwagon, opening doors for Dallas press people and asking a doorman to care for some stuff in the back (a couple of rackets and a satchel of court clothes), the doorman responding everything would be safe.

We are walking through the doorway of the hotel lobby. And the squared shoulders and neck-length brown hair frame the face of the hour, a 5-10, tennis-lean figure holding the door, to which I respond "thanks".

And we, several of us, enter an elevator to the ballroom level of the Dallas-Sheraton as one of the decorous ladies asks what I said to the squared shoulders with neck-length brown hair.

And he replies "he said 'thanks'".

And I am looking straight on at Jimmy Connors, 24, who the next afternoon creamed Dallas' Dick Stockton in four sets and won the World Championship of Tennis and $100,000.

The elevator stops and we exit to a reception table where courteous people point out which tables on the chart are whose. Connors and his party going his way, mine just trailing.

Moments later, amidst the press of Dallas and half the tennis correspondents of the Australian, American, English and European press, Connors is caught in the blaze of TV strobe lights. He is alone, Connors is saying, he is serious about winning WCT the first year he's in it. And he thinks Dallas is a great town.

Friends introduce me to the other man who got out of the car with Connors. And he is Derek Hardwick the president of the International Lawn Tennis Association, who next day receives special recognition for his contributions to tennis. He is in from London to see WCT's finals, the seventh since Ken Rosewall won in 1971 and repeated in 1972 over Rod Laver. Derek is cited for his "untiring and unselfish efforts on behalf of the game of tennis...."

I am introduced as an "A-plus tennis player", which in this environment is almost suffocating.

At hand is Mrs. Frank Jeffett, of Dallas, who is co-founder of the Maureen Connolly Brinker Tennis Foundation, named after the Dallasite who was women's singles champion at Forest Hills and Wimbledon before she died of cancer some years ago. Mrs. Jeffett finds time to plan for other tournaments beside guiding this benefit.

Connors and Stockton are special guests at this Connolly Brinker Foundation soiree, between Friday semi's and Sunday's showdown. Stockton, one of eight finalists who had not found his confidence, but won marathon matches anyway over Cliff Drysdale and Vitas Gerulaitis, may have been a late arrival. I failed to see him.

Not as many people from Dallas as at earlier WCT celebrations, I am told, but the place is crowded. Photographers are snapping pictures, and strobes are flashing. Lamar Hunt, who in effect is WCT, is moving among the guests away from a reception line. His wife is greeting dozens of people each graciously, an experience she apparently enjoys.

NBC's Bud Collins and John Newcombe, the Australian-Texan who won WCT in 1974, are mixing among the tennis and press people, Collins wearing an unusual maroon-tan, strip-and-patchwork for trousers, Newcombe his trademark moustache. He later dons a blue cap and loosens his black tie at another reception, reflecting on "Emmo", Roy Emerson, another Aussie who's won Wimbledon singles and doubles about as much as Laver, Newcombe or Rosewall.

Collins was in Houston last October covering the American Tennis Professional's men's doubles tournament, again at Houston's Woodlands.

Publisher of World Tennis magazine is pointed out, but I never catch up to him. Dallas people continue to find fewer familiar "local" faces, though the place is busy with the grain of people you seldom see outside of receptions and along center court or in press galleries at major tournaments.

A small band in the background plays music and people move to numbered tables, mine No. 13, which includes a couple from Virginia who established a tournament there, and some young WCT officials. The Virginian sounds like Jimmy Stewart playing the father in "Shenandoah" and looks like he may have played varsity at the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

The press is international. Earlier, numerous among the perhaps 40 writers ask Connors how he's going to play the winner of the other semi-final (Stockton over Gerulaitis ending at 12:10 Friday night). And he says he doesn't know, but he feels good. And no, he's not worried about the lawsuit with Bill Riordan . He says that's his lawyer's problem until he gets into court.

Bjorn Borg, the 1976 WCT champion, faces court troubles of his own, and those with WCT at that over failure to play.

One English gal correspondent is holding a sheaf of notes which is a stroke -by-stroke record of Connors' semi-final win over Eddie Dibbs in three sets, the last of which got away from Dibbs after he blew a shot late in the second.

I ask if she uses all that in her report. And she says "yes", her paper wants it even though no one may read it. You see what I mean about the United Kingdom and Europe liking their tennis.

Connors is a confident, but not the cocky American who first whipped the tennis world three years ago, only to succumb to touch and placement tennis in several major matches the next year, including Forest Hills final to Spain's Manuel Orantes.

Even Connors learns to be careful what he says after that.

He's in Dallas to win, to increase his winnings to $300,000 "on the year" and to keep the keys to that 1977 limousine he drives to this reception for 12 months.

He does all that, finishing Stockton 6-7,6-4,6-3, 6-1 the next afternoon. And Derek Hardwick receives appropriate recognition at SMU's Moody Coliseum, where record crowds watch all week.

I doubt if Connors is opening doors for many people these days. I imagine Miss World is getting more of his attention, between practice sessions somewhere here or abroad.

Jimmy Connors likes Dallas and the standards WCT lives up to for world-class tennis players. He'll be back. The money is great there when you win.

The money is good even if you don't win and your name is Dick Stockton, who has a runnerup check for $40,000.

It's a heavy league.

For Massive Power Plant
Construction Force To Peak At 500

A force of about 500 construction workers is expected to swell the Milam area population when activity starts on TP & L's massive, $200 million lignite power plant at Alcoa's Rockdale Works.

Construction is expected to start in June, with the worker force peak due by early 1978, according to a story in the Rockdale Reporter.

About 40 employees, essentially all field crews, will be on the scene in June when site preparation work begins in earnest for the electric generating unit. It will be located adjacent to the existing three-unit power plant operated for Alcoa by Industrial Generating Co.

The heavier influx of construction employes will be felt in July, and the influx will continue until reaching the 500 peak early next year.

The predictions were given by Bill Davis, IGC general superintendent; Walter Michalke, southwest power manager for Alcoa; and Bob Sugg, Alcoa project manager for the lignite mining expansion.

Of the total work force, only about 25 (management, administrative, supervisory and accounting personnel) will be in the area for the duration of the 3 1/2 year project. Most other construction employes will be on shorter term basis as various contractors start and complete work.

Although the bulk of the construction work force will move to the area, Davis noted that a substantial number of employes will actually come from the local area.

Of those moving in, some will seek area housing -- primarily rental property -- and many will have their own mobile homes.

Stages of the power plant were outlined:

1. Site preparation, security, designation of "lay down" areas for incoming equipment;
2. Underground work including piping and foundation work for turbine and boiler;
3. Boiler structural steel installation, along with installation of scrubber system;
4. Placing of equipment, buildings.

Site preparation is already underway for a lignite crusher much larger than the existing crusher. The current mining rate of about two million tons of lignite annually will more than double with the new equipment, Davis said.

An 860-acre man made reservoir, Alcoa Lake, will be enlarged t provide greater cooling water capacity for the power plant, with the lake level being raised one foot.

When the entire project is complete in 1981, the expanded power plant and mining will provide an additional 150 permanent jobs at IGC, Davis said.

The new power plant will be wholly owned by TP & L and operated by IGC.

Poage 'Stable' After Surgery For Tumor

Rep. W.R. Poage, the second oldest member of the House, was pronounced in stable condition Thusday after emerging from four hours of surgery to remove a malignant tumor.

The 77-year-old Waco congressman was hospitalized Monday after doctors discovered through X-rays the grapefruit sized tumor lodged in Poages' colon. After the tumor was determined malignant during the operation Thursday, a team of four surgeons removed a five-foot section of the intestine, according to Poage's staff.

Doctors will test the removed organ to determine whether it contained all the cancerous growth. Poage was expected to be hospitalized for at least a week, his staff said.

Nationwide Search On For Murder Suspect

William Craig Riley is now the subject of a nationwide search by Texas Rangers, the Austin Police Department and other law enforcement officials, Travis County Dist. Atty. Ronald Earle said.

Riley is wanted in both Texas and California for murder, armed robbery and auto theft.

He is being sought for questioning in connection with the mutilation murder of Austin car salesman, Jack Cooney III, whose body was found on a sand bar in the Brazos River on the Ely and Sons Farm near Gause.

Riley is wanted for the murder of Fred Cunningham Jr., a student at Sul Ross State University, whose partially clad body was found 12 miles west of Del Rio on March 27. He has also been charged with theft of the van in which Cooney was last seen alive.

Riley, 25, often uses the nickname, "Willie." Approximately 5'10" tall, he weighs between 140 and 160 pounds and wears rimless glasses. Ruddy complected with longish dark hair, he frequently wears a red bandanna as a scarf or headband and usually carries a sleeping bag with him wherever he goes.

One or both of his ears are pierced, he sometimes wears a mustache or beard and usually dresses in blue jeans and Wellington-style boots.

Officers said Riley is customarily armed with two pistols that he carries in his boots. Earle said it is his office's belief that Riley may be dangerous to anyone who encounters him. "We are asking for help from the news media and from the public in locating him."

Riley has been seen near Brownsville, San Marcos and was observed near Weatherford on April 13. Police emphasize the danger that Riley may present to the general public.

Tour Set At Research Center

A Blackland Incom Growth program and a tour of the Blackland Research Center at Temple will begin at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

The tour will highlight research work conducted on forage, sorghum and small grain varieties, sunflowers, guar, and sorghum drought tolerance and grass breeding.

Following the tour and a Dutch treat barbecue lunch, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston President Jack Barton will serve as the main speaker. Barton was the original organizer and first coordinator of the BIG program.

Producers are invited to take diseased plants and insect specimens to the research center that day for identification and control recommendations.

Final Exams Scheduled

Final examinations at Yoe High School will be held May 24 and 25. Buses will run one hour earlier in the afternoon on examination days. Town students will be dismissed from Ben Milam and Ada Henderson schools at 2:30 p.m.

POSTER WINNER Mike Denio is shown here with assistant fire chief Tommy Harwell. Mike's fire prevention poster won second place in the intermediate division from the Cen-Tex Firemen and Fire Marshals Association. His poster will be judged in state competition in June.

Rosebud's Population Drops

Rosebud's population is dropping, according to a census report. The Department of the Treasury said the population had dropped from 1,597 in 1970 (last census date), to 1564 in 1973, and that report has now dropped the city's residents to 1,496.

Fraud Suspects Jailed

Two Granbury women are in Lampasas County jail after being arrested on charges of theft of United States currency, which involved defrauding a local bank of several hundred dollars. The pair would open a bank account, depositing an allegedly hot check and then later the same day or the next day would make a withdrawal on the account.

Future Starting Now...

The excitement over housing is not a mere distant problem awaiting ultimate solution by 1980 when Shell moves into lignite mining.

The problem is now in housing in the Rockdale area because TP & L is beginning construction in June on a $200 million generator for Alcoa which will require 500 construction people three years to finish.

Rockdale's chamber of commerce already is getting questions about "how far is Temple?" in terms of housing for rent or sale.

It happens Cameron is between Temple and Rockdale and that Rockdale is going to need help in housing the families of these construction workers which their finance base alone may not be geared to handle.

This coincides with Cameron's annexing additional land space, established subdivisions here filling up and developers looking for more space to develop into subdivisions or individual housing.

It is not just a Rockdale problem. It is Milam area problem. And if Cameron area allows people to commute to that Rockdale construction site for three years without building to some of that need, it is a pointless oversight.

Some of those 500 additional construction jobs will become permanent jobs, just like those jobs for approximately 300 people at Industrial Generating. Why should they not find commuting to the new generating system when it is completed just as easy as those several hundred living in Cameron and the Milam area find it commuting to Alcoa and IGC jobs?

The answer is obvious. Cameron can do something about this problem now and benefit for decades to come. And Cameron can develop the housing skills, whether individual or multiple units, to meet this need and those of Shell a few years from now.

What is the old saying: "There's no time like the present to get started!"

What would be a new saying: "We won't have a future without that start!"

Lasers, Not Sledgehammers...

We agree with Cameron City Council's decision to get on with extending city limits.

The need is now, not tomorrow when everything is pat, for additional space, platting and utilization of pre-planning for housing development which with growth will provide revenues for additional services not yet visible. When things are "pat", mistakes are made in the rush of certainty.

Example: The City of Cameron approved a city sales tax about 10 years ago which has increased 37 per cent over the same period a year ago, about $40,000 gross which is about the amount the 1 per cent tax yielded the first year of the tax.

We congratulate the Cameron Arts & Service League for the leadership in establishing a summer recreation program beyond the traditional baseball-oriented activities. It includes tennis, bridge, games, baton twirling, water colors, needlepoint, embroidery, nail art, dancing, quilting, "42", among other interests beyond night baseball.

We support the recommendation that Cameron Independent School District receive a monthly update on its budget. Perhaps then the need for a half dozen school buses, or whatever, won't suddenly occur, or won't require short - term financing when in fact need for other facilities stare down at a school board working somewhat in the financial dark.

We wonder if the majority disciplinary action on a recent infraction on a school band trip, in effect, didn't correspond roughly to killing a fly with a sledgehammer.

Cameron and Milam County are making genuine strides in modernization, not just gestures at tomorrow and salutes to yesterday.

It is a part of a modern attitude that considers what still works from the past, what survives the present and anticipates the future.

We are in the era of laser beams, not sledgehammers.

Social Security Proposals

President Carter recently sem to Congress his proposals for strengthening the Social Security system. The package would affect millions of Americans.

Q. What was the President's campaign promise regarding the Social Security system?

A: The President said in a campaign address that "I pledge to you and Americans around the country that as President I will preserve, with the assistance of Congress, the financial integrity of the Social Security system to which so many millions of Americans have contributed and are contributing." He also pledged to hold down payroll tax rates, which fall most heavily on lower income workers.

Q: Why did the President, in his message to Congress, stress the need for prompt action?

A: The Social Security system is faced with severe short-term and long - term problems. In the short-term, we find the following: High unemployment in recent years has curtailed Social Security revenues; benefits have risen with inflation; and, since 1975 expenditures have exceeded income. Unless we act now the Disability Insurance Trust Fund will be exhausted in 1979 and the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund (OASI) will run out in 1983.

Q: What is the long-term difficulty?

A: Under present law, the Social Security system faces an estimated deficit of 8.2 percent of taxable payroll over the next 75 years. About half of this deficit is because of the projected composition of America's population over these years, with a higher life expectancy and lower birth rates making the Nation older as a whole. Another half of the deficit is because of a technical flaw in the automatic cost of living formula which was adopted in 1972. This technical flaw exaggerates the adjustment for inflation.

Q: What are the overall goals of the President's package?

A: In summary, the President's package is designed to accomplish five major things.

-- First, to prevent the exhaustion of the two trust funds;

-- Second, to bring income and expenses into balance in 1978 and to keep them that way through the end of the century;

-- Third, to create sufficient reserves to protect the system against intermittent and unexpected declines in revenue;

-- Fourth, to protect the Social Security system's integrity beyond the turn of the century so that we can predict what will happen in the next 75 years;

-- Fifth, to provide for an orderly review of the system's basic structure.

Q: How many Americans are affected?

A: One American in seven, or an estimated 33 million, receives a Social Security check every month. What steps are taken will not only affect those receiving the checks, but millions of employees and employers. An estimated 104 million Americans pay their taxes into the Social Security system.

Q: What specific actions did the President propose to Congress?

1) Use general Treasury revenues to help finance the Social Security system whenever unemployment rises above six percent. This action will compensate for revenues that have been lost from payroll taxes in severe recessions. Because this is an innovative feature, the legislation would apply only through 1982, at which time it would be reviewed by the Social Security Advisory Council.

2) Remove the ceiling on the amount of an individual's wage or salary on which the employer pays Social Security taxes. The present law provides that employers and employees pay a tax only on the first $16,500 in wages. The plan would raise over a three-hear period the ceiling on which employers pay their contributions, so that by 1981 the ceiling would be removed.

3) Increase the amount of wage or salary on which an employee must pay Social Security tax by $600 in each of four years (1979, 1981, 1983, and 1985), beyond the automatic increases that are provided in current law.

4) Shift revenues from the Hospital Insurance Medicare Trust Fund to the Old Age, Survivors and Disability Trust Fund, a shift which would be necessary to keep the OASDI Trust Fund Solvent. The Hospital Insurance Trust Fund would need less money than previously anticipated with the expected enactment of the President's proposals to contain the rate of increase in hospital costs.

5) Increase the tax rate on the self-employed from 7 percent to 7.5 percent, in effect restoring the historical relationship on rates paid by the self-employed to one and one-half times that paid by employees.

6) Make certain technical revisions in the law to conform to Supreme Court decisions requiring that men and women be treated alike under the Social Security laws. The decisions reduce the eligibility requirements for dependent's benefits and eliminate provisions which differentiate on the basis of sex.

7) Correct the excessive adjustment for inflation which was inadvertently adopted in 1972 for future Social Security benefits, using a modification known as "decoupling" so that the adjustment is accomplished while maintaining the current ratio of retirement benefits to pre-retirement wages.

8) Change the timing of a tax increase contained in current law. The one percent tax rate increase scheduled for 2011 would be adjusted so that one-quarter of the increase would occur in 1985 and the remainder in 1990.

Q: Financing Social Security trust funds from general revenues sounds radical. How would it work and what is the Administration's rationale behind this proposal?

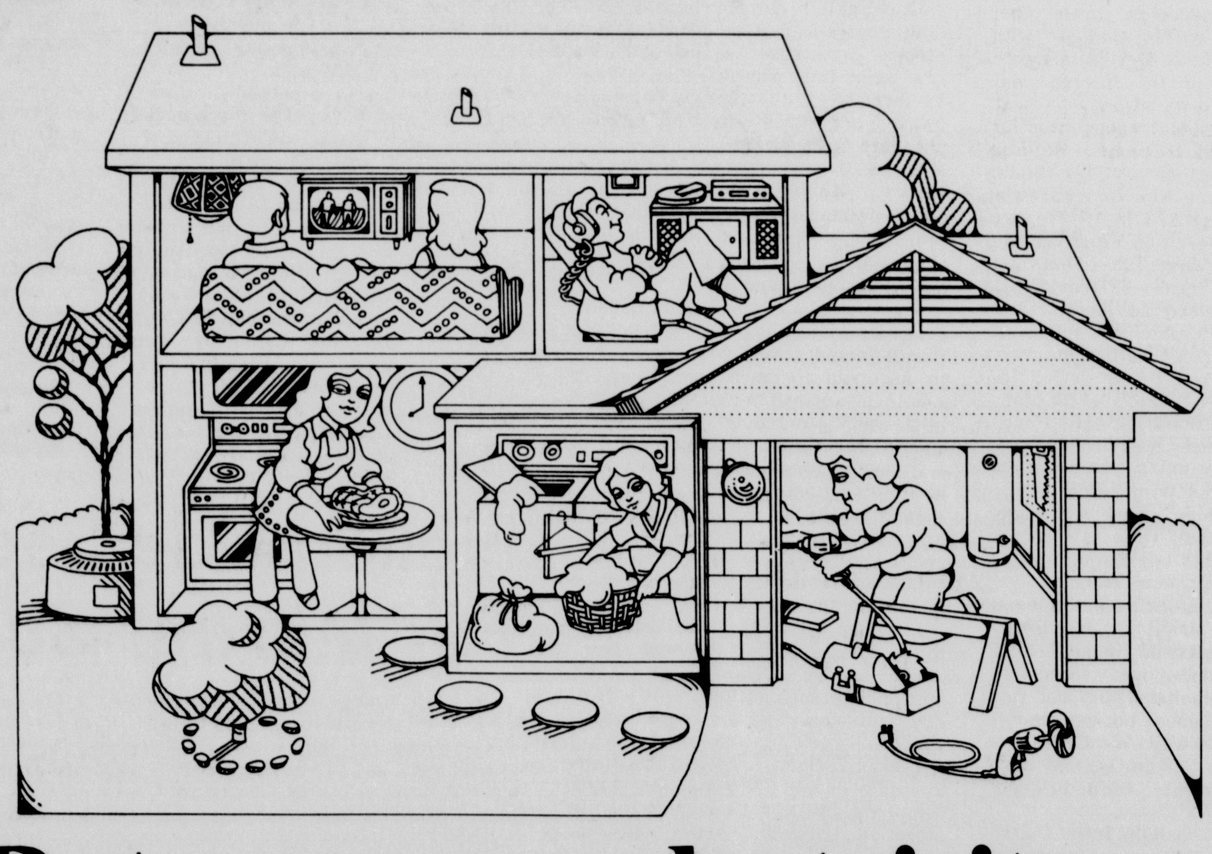
A: Essentially, an amount of money equal to the difference between the payroll taxes that were actually paid and those that would have been collected for the year if unemployment had been no more than six percent would be transferred from general treasury revenues to the Social Security trust funds.

The transfer would cover taxes lost because of high unemployment beginning in 1975. But the transfers actually would be made in 1978, 1979, and 1980, reflecting revenue short falls of years 1975-78. Unemployment is expected to drop below six percent in 1979. As this is an innovative step, is would be enacted temporarily and could be renewed only if recommended by the Advisory Council on Social Security. The Council's report is due at the end of 1978. Using general revenues to make up taxes lost because of recessions averts the need to raise Sosial Security taxes during a recession, which could make the recession worse.

Q: Isn't it correct that a key element of President Carter's proposal would require employers to pay Social Security taxes on all employee earning from 1981 on, and, in other words put additional costs on employers?

A: Yes. The additional costs to employers from 1979 to 1982 would be an estimated $30.4 billion. While this a substantial, it is less than employers would pay under a conventional Social Security tax increase plan, in which both tax rates and the wage base would be increased.

Still a good buy...
all over the house.



But, conserve electricity and save money.

Forty or fifty years ago, the electric bill was most often referred to as "the light bill." In thousands of homes, Mr. Edison's illuminating invention was not the only electrically operated device in use, but people associated its benefits with their costs for electricity.

Today, higher costs for electricity seem to overshadow the many benefits of electricity.

The majority of American homes now have at least 14 different electric appliances, in addition to lighting: radio, television, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, clothes washer, iron, toaster, coffeemaker, mixer, range, frypan, bed coverings, can opener and some type of air conditioner.

Whether you have 14 or 40 electric appliances, we believe that if you will compare their benefits with your costs of operating them, you'll agree that electricity is still a good buy . . . all over the house.

How To Have A Successful Garage Sale

Successful garage sales depend on orgainization, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

She suggests the following ideas for planning and staging a "neighborhood marketplace:"

Advertise your garage sale with signs in the neighborhood (if customary), bulletin boards at community centers and grocery stores--and classifies ads in the newspaper.

Most shoppers check newspaper ads Wednesday through Saturday--advertising these days will bring your sale it's widest readership.

Draw attention in the ad to big items you want to sell--list brand name, color, size or other characteristics.

Consider combining your sale with a neighbor or friend, or having a "block sale"--in which several people on the same block hold sales at the same time.

Holding a sale with others provides company during the lulls and help during the crowds.

Check local ordinances for permit requirements for holding a garage sale. Many cities limit the frquency and length of a sale, as well as the number and placement of signs.

Be ready the day before by organizing the items for sale. Price all items ahead--this will keep prices reasonable, even under crowd pressure.

Expect someone to come the day before or several hours early just to get a headstart on the other shoppers.

Some experienced garage sellers will not sell ahead of their starting time to avoid selling something not intended for sale or selling below the price they would have set later.

Bargaining is part of the experience, so be flexible when you price items. Many sellers are willing to come down as much as 50 per cent. Ask about the custom in your area.

If you believe the price is right--don't budge on it until the last part of the sale. However, be sensitive to the shoppers' interests. Sometimes offering to lower the price $1 or $2 on a $20 to $30 item will be just enough to make the sale.

National Honor Society Held Rock-A-Thon

Members of the National Honor Society of Yoe High School and interested friends literally "rocked" around downtown mall April 23 in a Rock-A-Thon to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Approximately thirty students, ranging in age from nine to eighteen, rocked a collective total of 188 hours on a sunny, breezy Saturday, to collect pledges totalling $705. This sum was supplemented by a $50 contribution in honor and memory of friends and family of N.H.S. members stricken with cancer.

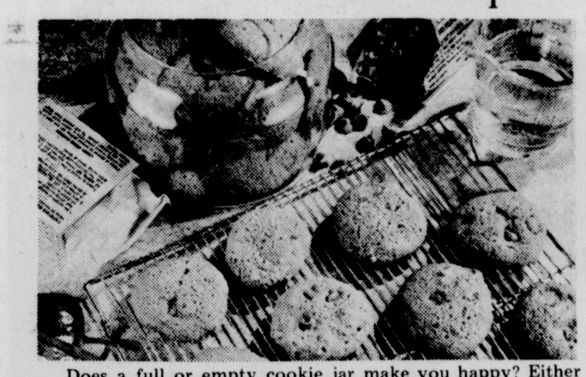
Three prizes were awarded for participation. Jerry Pratt received the prize for the most money collected, $193, and the prize for being the youngest rocker which was 9. He received two pizzas from the Pizza Hut.

Diana Chubb received the prize as the oldest rocker, 18 years old. She received a gift certificate from the Back Door Shoppe

Honorable mention went to Laurie Mitchan, Velvet Dodson and Pam Kimbrel for collecting over $50 each.

The National Honor Society wishes to thank Mr. Johnnie Barrett for furnishing Dr. Peppers, Layne Shelander and Diana Chubb for "clowning" around. Most of all thanks to everyonw who rocked or who donated money for helping make the Rock-A-Thon such a success.

Double Butterscotch Drops



Does a full or empty cookie jar make you happy? Either way, this recipe for Double Butterscotch Drops does the trick. It's large recipe makes from five to six dozen rounds of light, crunchy cookies.

These tempting tidbits rate big on flavor. Made doubly butterscotchy by using both butterscotch chips and pudding, they taste almost like a candy bar. And they're so much fun to munch, you'll have to exercise self-restraint to keep from emptying the cookie jar yourself.

about 6 dozen

- 3 cups enriched flour*
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup butter, softened

Yoe High Play Day; A New Twist In Sports

As the school year draws to a close and the attention turns to senior trips and graduation the word "sports" takes a new twist at Yoe High School, the annual play day.

For the past three years, as the seniors depart on their long awaited trip, the teachers and students take a day off from school work to join together in a number of interesting competitions, ranging from sack races to tug-o-war.

Friday morning marked play day for the 1977 school year. Competition was begun around 10:30 and continued through 2:30, with a break for lunch.

Tug-o-war was the first event of the day, the Juniors dominating that event, to take first place, while the Sophomores took second and the Freshman third.

The sack race followed, seeing all three classes disqualified and the points divided equally.

The Sophomores took the next three events of the day hands down, they were; the red wagon race, jump rope, and hula hoop competitions.

The Freshmen proved that they could win too as they took the next event, the potato race. The Sophomores took second in the event and the Juniors settled for third.

The next two events of the days' competition were the three legged race and the nose race, the Sophomores winning both of those events.

The final event of the day was the egg toss. After a few dozen casualties the Freshmen managed to win that event to complete the days activities.

When the final points were tallied the Sophomores had taken 20 points and first place, while the Freshmen were close behind with 15, and the Juniors proved with 13 points that the only thing they were after were their senior rings.

CRASH!! Judith Moore (on ground) and Marilyn Krenek just couldn't seem to reach the finish line in the nose race.

OOPS. Kathy Sheguit breaks the first rule of egg toss.....catching the egg.

BOBBY BURTON and Evelyn Pittman are all smiles as they join the competition in the three-legged race.

A LOOK OF DETERMINATION and a big tater is the winning combination, as Janet Trdy prepares to make her run in the potato race.

Defending Champ Foyt To Race In Texas 500

A.J. Foyt, the greatest race car driver of all time has entered the TEXAS 500 to be held at Texas World driver to have won the Indy 500 in both the old style front engine roadsters and the new rear engine cars, proving his superior skill and versatility. He has won Speedway in College Station on June 5. He is the defending champoon having won the 1976 TEXAS 500, his first major race victory on Texas soil.

At the present time Foyt is at Indianapolis preparing for the twentieth time to win the $1,000,000. Indianapolis 500 on May 29. He qualified fourth fastest and will start on the inside of the second row. He is going for an unprecedented fourth victory there. Only two other drivers have ever won three Indy 500's.

He is already the only every major sports car, Indy Car, stock car, midget and sprint car race in the world.

He has been National Champion in Indy cars six times, won the National Stock Car Championship in 1968, the National Dirt Car Championship in 1972, the World Series of Auto Racing in 1975 and 1976, and the International Race of Champion the last two years.

In addition to his building and driving his own race cars, he has a successful Chevrolet dealership in Houston, and owns and trains a stable of throughbred race horses.

One would think that with his business activities and the months of preparation required to go after his fourth Indy 500 win that Foyt would want a month off. But not Foyt. One week after the Indianapolis 500, Foyt will get into his Gilmore Chevelle to defend his title in the TEXAS 500.

Practice for the TEXAS 500 starts Friday afternoon, June 3 and continues Saturday morning, June 4 followed by time trial qualifications and a live on stage concert for infield overnight campers. Pre-race festivities start Sunday, June 5 and the Fifth Annual Texas 500 gets the flag at 1 p.m.

Tickets for the TEXAS 500 are available at major ticket outlets in Texas and from Texas World Speedway, P.O. Box A J, College Station, Texas 77840, or by telephone 713-693-2500.

Lake Texoma Problems Fishermen

The safest thing a fisherman on Lake Texoma could do is buy both Texas and Oklahoma fishing licenses.

The two states lack reciprocal fishing license agreements and state boundaries on the big lake could be confusing.

A majority of Lake Texoma is in Oklahoma although a portion of the lake lies in Texas. The area immediately below Denison Dam expecially is confusing, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement officials.

A Texas fishing license is valid on the south side of the river below the dam from the power plant east to Shawnee Creek. But an Oklahoma license is required to fish east of Shawnee Creek.

Striped bass and hybrid white/striped bass bag and possession limits are the same between the two states, however. Currently the limit is three per day and six in possession on Lake Texoma.

TJC Fall Term Advising Begins

Prospective Temple Junior College students for the 1977 fall semester should begin now to make entrance preparations, Charles Stout, director of admissions, said.

Stout said academic advising for fall semester day school classes will begin June 6 and counselors are now making appointments for conferences.

Students planning to apply for financial aid also should submit applications as soon as possible.

All new students(any student not enrolled for the 1977 spring semester) must submit ACT scores or placement test scores prior to the advising conference, Stout said. New students also must submit an application for admission, immunization certificate and transcript of previous high school or college work.

The placement test will be given at TJC every Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Room 119 beginning May 31. Students who have not taken the ACT test or the placement test should report to a testing session.

Returning students also must make an appointment for an academic advising conference, Stout said.

Appointments may be made in person or by telephone at the Admissions and Records Office. Application forms, copies of the 1977-78 catalog and other enrollment information is available at the Admissions and Records Office.

Students wishing to apply for financial aid should contact William G. Raffetteo, financial aids director. An absolute minimum of six weeks is needed to process applications and it is desirable to apply as soon as possible, Raffetto said.

TJC offers for basic forms of financial assistance -- grants, loans, part-time employment and scholarships.

Raffetto said government grant programs are designed to meet all of the student's expenses including tuition and fees, books and supplies, room and board and transportation. Financial aid is available for both academic and vocational programs.

IRS Changes Expenses For Moving

Beginning with tax year 1977, individuals who must move for employment reasons can look forward to liberalized deductions for some of the expenses related to their moves, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The IRS cautioned that this change is effective for tax year 1977 and should not be reflected on returns being prepared for 1976.

Under the new law, eligible taxpayers can decuct their moving expenses if their new job is 35 miles (decreased from 50 miles) further from their former residence than was their former place of work. Individuals who had no former place of work may figure the distance from their former residence to their new job site, the IRS said.

Anothr liberalization in business move expenses concerns the maximum deductions for costs of house-hunting before moving and temporary living expenses. The maximum deduction has been raised to $1,500 the IRS said. Previously the limit was $1,000.

A third change for 1977 applies to expenses related to buying, selling, or renting a principal residence. The maximum deduction is now $3,000, up from $2,500. This deduction, however, must be reduced by the amount of any deduction taken for house-hunting or temporary living expenses.

Details on moving expense deductions can be found in Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses," available free from the IRS by filling out the handy coupon found in the tax packages sent by taxpayer.

This package, virtually unmatched anywhere else in the nation, includes:

-- The opportunity to work on a 2-year associate degree;

These opportunities are only part of the outstanding new package, according to Air Force officials. Included is the Community College of the Air Force (CCAF), that lets young people work toward their Associate Degree in Applied Science while earning a good salary.

Air Force officials pointed out that the college requires no registration fee, and that young people enroll in the CCAF within a few weeks after they enlist.

Preliminary plans for a new vocational-technical and general administration building at Temple Junior College were presented to the TJC Board of Trustees at the May 16 meeting.

Vail Logsdon of the architectural firm of Logsdon and Voelter presented the preliminary floor plan and front elevation of the two-story building. Logsdon noted the lower floor will be the educational portion of the building and the upper floor will be devoted to administrative space. The new building will be constructed just east of the Watson Technical Center.

GRADUATION FACTS & FIGURES

According to National Center for Education Statistics, in 1977 an estimated 11,973,000 people will graduate, from grade school through doctoral programs.

The graduate's four-cornered hat is believed to come from the four-cornered curriculum studied by 13th century students at the University of Paris. They learned arithmetic, geometry, astronomy and music for a liberal arts degree.

A good number of 1977 graduates will be glad to get a new electronic digital watch that not only works with split-second accuracy but is integrated into a sturdy band of space-age plastic and can be decorated with any of two dozen youth-pleasing decals. Made by the inventors of the integrated circuit, Texas Instruments, it sells for under $10.

The 1977 graduates are expected to include some three million high school and another three million elementary school graduates. Almost 1.3 million people will graduate from college, 400,000 will receive graduate degrees, while about four million will leave junior high school.

Seniors May Deduct Home Sale

Beginning this year, certain taxpayers 65 years of age or older may exclude all of the gain from the sale of their home from their gross income if the adjusted sales price is $35,000 or less, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The IRS cautioned taxpayers that this change is effective for tax year 1977 and should not be reflected on returns being prepared now for 1976.

Under the new law, if the adjusted sales price is more than 35,000, the tax break is prorated.

In prior years, the full tax break could be taken only if the adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less. The Adjusted sales price of the amount that the seller receives after paying selling commissions and certain allowable fix-up expenses.

The IRS said that to qualify for the exclusion, as in the past, taxpayers must:

--have been at least 65 before the sale of the home;

--have owned and used the property as their principal residence for at least 5 years (continuously or with interruptions) within an 8-year period ending on the date of sale;

--never have used the tax exclusion before (it may be used only once in the taxpayer's lifetime).

Six Flags Sets Daily Schedule

Six Flags Over Texas will begin its daily operating schedule May 21, one week earlier than originally planned.

The change was made because of an unusually heavy influx of out-of-state visitors and very significant number of inquiries regarding the week prior to Memorial Day.

In past years, the Memorial weekend has traditionally marked the beginning of the Arlington theme park's daily schedule for the summer months.

Six Flags will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday of that week. However, park officials urged that persons planning to visit on Friday, May 27, arrive early. The facility will close at 5 p.m. that day, due to a prior commitment for a private outing for employees of a major company that evening.

DUSEKS PHARMACY IS MANY STORES IN ONE

Dusek's Pharmacy in Cameron will mark its 50th year in business in November, having been at the same location at 106 N. Houston all that time.

There are four registered pharmacists available in the prescription department, including Bernay Dusek, Kevin Harmon, Alvin Dusek, and Franklyn Dusek, who is semi-retired. Other employes include Clara Matula, the most senior, who is in charge of front end stock; Mae Evans, sales and bookkeeping; Addie Cryer, sales; Beatrice Williams, pharmacy clerk; and part time employes Teresa Thompson, Marie Darby, and Pam Keith, DECA student.

The pharmacy department keeps up to date on new medicines, using a microfiche reader with cards showing new products, prices and other information. The store also provides city - wide delivery four or five times a day, so that no one has to wait long for needed drugs and medicines. With four pharmacists, there is ample time for customers' consultations about their prescriptions and non - prescription drug uses.

Dusek's offers a full line of non-prescription drugs, and nutritional supplements including vitamins and protein supplements. It also offers first aid supplies and support hose, suspensories and braces, heating pads, and humidifiers.

Animal health supplies include antibiotics and vaccines, and wound dressings. Also in stock are house and garden insecticides and repellants.

A large selection of costume jewelry includes a full line of Timex watches, Twiston bands by Spiedel, and electric and windup clocks, wall and alarm. The store's candy line includes Russell Stover and Stuckey, and dietetic Kings candy. Party chips and dips are by Adobe House and include nacho and sesame thins, and chili and nacho dips.

Men's and women's grooming aids include hair care products, hair dryers, manicure kits, toilet kits, and shavers. The pocketknife line features Schrade-Walden and Camillus.

A wide selection of gift items are stocked, including infants gifts, glassware, Corning Ware, and many more. Greeting cards are the Hallmark Ambassador line, and magazines and paperbacks are also a feature of the store.

Photographic supplies include film and flashbulbs and Dusek's offers film processing by Fox with pictures returned in about six days.

Dusek's cosmetic department stocks major name brands including Revlon, Max Factor, Coty, Houbigant, and Prince Matchabelli. Eye makeup in a wide selection is by Aziza. That department furnishes anything needed in the cosmetic line, with complete stocks including perfumes and colognes.

Dusek's also features a copying service for customers' convenience.

"The thing we emphasize that gives the value to our prices is our service," Bernay Dusek says.
